

In this episode, we sit down with Agustin Rios, COO of Lignum Energy, to discuss how his startup is transforming cow manure into clean, renewable energy. Lignuim is commercializing a unique process to convert manure from cattle farms into standardized biomass pellets.

Where is Lignum Energy headquartered? Lignum Energy is headquartered in Houston, TX. What is the size of Lignum Energy? Lignum Energy has 3 total employees. What industry is Lignum Energy in? Lignum Energy's primary industry is Environmental Services (B2B). Is Lignum Energy a private or public company? Lignum Energy is a Private ...

Lignum Energy is at the forefront of transforming the agricultural waste problem into a renewable energy opportunity. The company specializes in converting cow manure, an environmental pollutant, into high-quality, odorless, pathogen-free biomass pellets.

Web: <https://gmchrzaszcz.pl>